Events for SIdE members

Dear members:

Let me thank all of you for supporting once more the Italian Econometric Society. In this very difficult year, we faced many new and unexpected challenges that have threaten the organization of our usual events. We have done our best to maintain our standards and I am glad to say that, eventually, more than 120 scholars have attend the SIdE postgraduate summer schools. The 9th ICEEE conference will be held online on January 21-23, 2021 and presenters should register within the 10th of December to be included in the program. SIdE members that do not present a paper may register and follow the conference with no additional fees. In this respect let me stress the importance of renewing you membership for the year 2021 and announce that we have introduced the possibility to subscribe a three-year membership.

Administrative and management activities of the society have increased substantially in recent years and, to meet our needs, we have taken on board Laura Urraci on a full-time appointment in the SIdE secretariat. Finally let me spend some words to express our deepest gratitude to Antonella Mallus who has spent several years with us, managing membership requests, answering your queries and supporting SIdE activities in a very a competent and dedicated manner.

2020 is coming to an end, I wish you a merry Christmas and (I mean it) a very happy new year.

Gabriele Fiorentini
